Storm Water Grant Update

The feasibility study is complete for the $80,000 Local Collaboration Grant Awarded to the Lorain County Community Alliance to conduct a storm water management study. Its purpose is to research the options and feasibility of alternatives to the existing fragmented approach by individual governments to address flood control issues. This completed study includes secondary data analysis, findings of a local government survey, a summary of best management practices, and legal opinions around storm water management. A draft implementation plan has also been developed. A formal request for an extension was submitted by the Lorain County Commissioners to allow local government officials additional time to process the information and finalize the plan. A conference will be held with Local Government Officials and key stakeholders from the community. Lake County and Summit County Engineers will be presenting. This study may be used a model for the State of Ohio.

COMMUTER RAIL UPDATE

WestShore Commuter Rail Task Force

The WestShore Commuter Rail Task Force completed private sector fundraising for the local match to access a federal earmark by Congress Member Betty Sutton for the planning of transportation options in the corridor between Cleveland and Sandusky. The group conducted a press conference at 5:30 pm on September 30th to recognize the contributors and to show support for linking a proposed commuter rail with the Jet Express service in Lorain.

Commissioners Vote Unanimously

The Lorain County Commissioners voted 2-0 to hire Parsons Brinckerhoff Inc., of Cleveland, to complete the eight-month study for the possible West Shore Rail Corridor. The study is geared to become the first step toward leveraging federal money to pay for a commuter train through the communities of Lorain, Erie and Cuyahoga counties. The county will not use general fund money to pay for the study. The study is funded by private contributions, a grant from NOACA, and Federal Funding.
